

2018 Mill City Press Awards Winner!
1st place in Self Help category

Turning your talent into a full-time career

Entertainers Who Work! is your unique guide to achieving a sustainable and successful career. Readers will dive into the world of best insider tips and secrets, including:

- How to get work in the elusive corporate-and-private-event market
- How to diversify your audience in festivals, colleges, cruise ships, theaters, fairs, and more
- How to create and run your own small business, with detailed information about budgets and business plans tailored for entertainers and speakers

Publisher: Beaver's Pond Press
Format: Print
Pages: 102
Price: $21.95
ISBN: 978-1-59298-651-4
Publication Date: 2018
Stocklist: Amazon

What readers are saying...

“I WISH this book would have been available when I started in show business!” – Mark "Sparky" Sparks | Professional Performer & Talent Agent

“... I recommend it for anyone who has a dream to work as a creator and/or artist and isn't sure how to get started.”- S. Heidtke | Associate Director of Career Services

Gary Berg

Author, CEO & Founder of G.L. Berg Entertainment

Gary founded G.L. Berg Entertainment in 1989, and today that company is one of the largest entertainment providers in the country, contracting over 4,000 worldwide shows and events annually. Gary holds a B.A. in English and an M.A. in Higher Education Administration, and his previous career as a college administrator helps keep smart and talented people focused and on track. Gary loves sports, comedy, music, and most forms of live entertainment experiences. This is his first book.

For more information, or to book Gary for a speaking event, please contact:

✉ info@glberg.com

☎ 612.361.6002

🌐 Entertainerswhowork.com

